Adult Caddisfly Occurrence Scheme

Background

For as long as I can remember I have had an interest in insects, as a boy I would spend my summer holidays catching butterflies, hunting down grasshoppers and feeding hapless flies to hungry spiders. When I started fly-fishing a detailed study of the insects that the fish I was trying to catch actually fed on, was for me, a natural development. I have since spent many years collecting and studying the mayflies (Ephemeroptera) and stoneflies (Plecoptera). Obviously, knowledge gained from these studies has helped my fly-fishing.

In more recent years my curiosity started to turn to the world of caddisflies (Trichoptera) but my fly-fishing books had only the briefest of information and I wanted to know much more. From 1993 until 2008 I had the great fortune to fly-fish with various fly-fishing teams representing England, as a result I have fly-fished in many different countries. During my travels and fishing at these events I have met with anglers from all over the world who also had a keen interest in the entomological aspect of the sport. From these gatherings it soon became obvious that, with the adult caddisflies especially, the UK fly-fisherman's understanding was full of huge gaps.

In the spring of 2006 I had a letter printed in Fly-Fishing & Fly-Tying, a popular and informative UK based fly-fishing magazine. In this letter I appealed for help from the readers, I needed them to catch and send me any adult caddisflies they came across whilst out fishing. My idea was then to identify these specimens and create a database of where & when our different adult caddisfly species are on the wing, the aim being to get a better understanding of adult caddisflies and their relationship with the sport of fly-fishing here in the UK. This was the birth of the Adult Caddisfly Occurrence Scheme.

Since the scheme started I have had many thousands of individual adult caddisfly samples sent in and the database has grown steadily. I have also enrolled other "collectors" (who are not anglers); these have included my family & friends and members of various Natural History Societies. To be honest anyone who has shown even the slightest interest has been roped in! This has expanded the areas from which I receive samples to beyond that of the fly-fishing related sites, as a result, an even greater variety of species started to come through.

Each year all the data is sent to Dr. Ian Wallace (from The National Trichoptera Recording Scheme), the National Biodiversity Network, the Freshwater Biological Association, the Riverfly Partnership, Buglife (The Invertebrate Conservation Trust), my local natural history society (Sorby), everyone who sends in the samples and anyone else who just asks!

2015 - Brief Review

2015 has been another interesting year for the Adult Caddisfly Occurrence Scheme, and this year (2016) will be the tenth year that the scheme has been recording these interesting insects when in their flight period. In August of 2015 Andrew Dixon and I travelled down to the River Itchen in Hampshire and spent a full week recording adult caddisflies, mayflies and stoneflies from the very source of the river downstream almost to the tidal limit. This proved to be a very interesting trip indeed and if you want to see a full copy of this report then just drop me an email (pennine@troutbum.freemove.co.uk) and I can send you the report in PDF format. During our trip we had a "hit list" of caddis to see, these were; Erotesis baltica, Chimarra marginata and Ylodes conspersus we also wanted to record as many of the micro caddis (family Hydroptilidae) as we could find. The good news is that we found all three species mentioned above and eight species from the Hydroptilidae family. The records of all these are of course all included in this report.

Back with the main Adult Caddisfly Occurrence Scheme results for 2015; the number of sample tubes sent in to be analysed was, as in previous years very impressive. This gave me the job of having to check almost 1000 individual adult caddisflies, each one identified and catalogued. The scheme recorded 96 species in 2015. Three of these species are new records for the scheme and are; Apatania muliebris, Polycentropus kingi and Ylodes conspersus. This brings the total number of species the scheme has recorded to 142. The full list and details of all the species recorded during 2015 can be found on the charts following this review. Chart A lists the caddisflies in alphabetical order, when more than one sample of a particular species has been found they are themselves listed in "date occurred" order. Chart B shows the data with sample supplier names in alphabetical order, if you have sent in samples you will find all your results together here.

During 2015 I once again received support from the Cressbrook & Litton Fly-Fishers Club (club website at: www.cressbrookandlittonflyfishers.co.uk), their support has helped me greatly with the ever increasing postal charges and the costs of new sample tubes.

As in previous years this data is also available on a CD-ROM. The CD gives the data in more formats and with photographs of some of the species. These are available for £5.00. Any money raised will go towards the funding of the 2016 scheme. Just post me a cheque (made payable to Torrentis Products), a stamped SAE and a note requesting the CD.

Last, but by no means least, a huge thank you to everyone who has sent in samples, without you the scheme simply would not exist.

Stuart Crofts,
